On 4th March 2008 RACVIAC – Centre for Security Cooperation organized the Ambassadorial meeting gathering the Ambassadors of all MAG countries accredited to the Republic of Croatia. Ambassador Nedžad HADŽIMUSIĆ, Director of RACVIAC, presented RACVIAC’s new mission as the Centre for Security Cooperation gradually imposing itself as a premier platform for fostering dialogue and cooperation on security matters in South Eastern Europe through partnership between the countries of the region and their international partners. He emphasized the importance of RACVIAC’s role in materializing the principle of regional ownership, which until recently has been perceived only as a jargon, or rhetoric of our friends in Brussels, New York or Washington. Nowadays it stands unequivocally for a greater level of innovative approach and partnerships accompanied by direct material and financial participation of the countries of the region. Ambassador HADŽIMUSIĆ expressed his deep appreciation for the support, which has been provided by the Associate member countries to RACVIAC’s wide scope of activities. Director of RACVIAC stressed that initial concept of the Centre has become too narrow nowadays. In that regard, he highlighted the importance of the current transformation process of RACVIAC and presented the first draft of a new structure of RACVIAC, which is to be discussed at the 19th MAG Meeting in Chisinau in Moldova on the 10th April this year. The meeting has gathered a significant number of the Ambassadors and Military Attaches of RACVIAC member countries as well as high representatives of the host country Mr. Davor ČUTIĆ, Deputy Head of International Defense Cooperation Department at the Ministry of Defense and Mr. Pjer ŠIMUNOVIĆ, Assistant Minister for International Organizations and Security at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and European Integration with his respective associates.
RACVIAC should continue to successfully seek assistance and advise from organizations and institutions such as JFC Naples, NATO IS, NATO IMS, SHAPE, NATO School Oberammergau, the EU, Defense Resource Management Institute, as well as from relevant NATO - and EU countries.

Taking into account the amount of information that DPPB field covers, we received a recommendation to organize two activities per year - each as a combination of a seminar and a course, which should be executed alternating at RACVIAC and regional countries.

DEFENSE PLANNING, PROGRAMMING AND BUDGETING SEMINAR

In the period of the 14th - 17th January 2008, RACVIAC conducted its first seminar in 2008 in the field of Defense Planning, Programming and Budgeting (DPPB).
The purpose of this seminar was to discuss the principles of planning, programming and budgetary control over security related expenditures among the SEE countries, to identify ways to improve and harmonize DPPB processes in each country, as well as to encourage regional interoperability and cooperation.

This seminar was conducted in the partnership with NATO Joint Force Command Headquarters in Naples, the Office of Security Sector Reform and it was the first serious attempt to move it to a higher stage, as requested by the regional countries highlighting the meaningful necessity for the new changes.

Thirty-four participants took part in the seminar. These were representatives from: Albania, Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Moldova, Montenegro, The former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia*, Italy, Moldova, Montenegro, Serbia, Slovakia, OSCE, Stability Pact, as well as students from the Faculty of Political Science, University of Zagreb.

After the seminar, there was a strong mandate inherent in the participant’s conclusions, which would contribute to RACVIAC’s future "Needs Assessment". Generally speaking, RACVIAC was considered to be the appropriate organization to initiate, develop and execute seminars like DPPB one. A strong need for building and improving administrative capacity in DPPB in the region was highlighted, since the information exchange has always played a crucial role in promoting regional cooperation and security.

REGIONAL OWNERSHIP AND REGIONAL SECURITY SEMINAR

The Seminar on Regional Ownership and Regional Security was held in RACVIAC in the period of the 13th –14th February 2008. The seminar gathered participants with knowledge and experience in the field of regional ownership and regional security, representing relevant ministries, institutions, as well as parliamentary commissions directly involved in this subject. The seminar was conceived as a combination of lecturers and workshops. The participants and lecturers were representatives from ten countries and three organizations as follows: Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bulgar, Croatia, The former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia*, Italy, Moldova, Montenegro, Serbia, Slovakia, OSCE, Stability Pact, as well as students from the Faculty of Political Science, University of Zagreb.

The aim of this seminar was to discuss the concept of regional ownership by defining key elements as well as highlighting rights and responsibilities of the countries in the region and evaluating advantages and challenges in enhancing regional security.

It covered the range of topics such as: The link between regional ownerships, Responsibilities and rights of countries, Parliamentary involvement, Contribution of international organizations and its effects on Euro-Atlantic environment, Regionalism versus internationalism. Both, seminar and workshop proved successful and the participants were provided with the opportunity to discuss topics and generate fresh ideas on regional ownership and regional security.

His Excellency Pellumb QAZIMI, Albanian Ambassador in Zagreb gave interesting presentation on the Regional Security ownership which he concluded by saying that the regional security ownership can be realized by: having a clear vision; setting the clear goals for the EU and NATO integration; recognizing responsibilities; exercising responsibilities; having acknowledge; proceeding through lessons learned; using expertise; moving through programmes; taking the lead; following the results and products.

His Excellency Alessandro PIGNATTI MORANO di CUSTOZA, Italian Ambassador in Zagreb gave a presentation on Regional co-operation in the context of the European Integration summarizing the importance of fostering the regional cooperation among SEE countries which are to become NATO and EU members and concluded that the concept of regional ownership would give a new impetus to regional cooperation by focusing on the agreed priorities in SEE countries. The following lectures were also given in this seminar: Towards a Regionally Owned Co-operation Framework in South Eastern Europe by Zoran KEKOVIC, PhD, Republic of Serbia, University of Belgrade; Priorities for regional co-operation by Col Kenan DAUTOVIC, Ministry of Defense of B&H, Partnership for Peace and NATO Adviser; Advantages and challenges to enhance regional security by Col Hamza VISCA, Head of International Cooperation Cell, J5 Joint Staff AF, B&H; The role of RCC in facilitating regional co-operation in the perspective of European Integration by Ms. Talia BOATI, Stability Pact; Parliamentary involvement and responsibilities in the process of the Regional Ownership by Mr. ZELJKO GRUBESIC, Expert Advisor, Joint Committee for Defense and Security, B&H. Following a two-day seminar and workshop event in RACVIAC, all the participants agreed upon the need for establishing a common approach in the area of regional ownership and regional security. Therefore, they proposed to have more common initiatives in the future. SEE region lacks a kind of Regional Security Strategy at intergovernmental level, which would ultimately lead to establishing Regional Security System/Culture. No matter whether it would be a Treaty, Declaration, Charter with Protocols or Memorandum of Understanding, it would serve as a political platform. SEECP/RCC could serve as a good operational kick out.

7th WORKSHOP ON TRANSITION OF MILITARY PERSONNEL

The 7th Workshop was held from 25th to 28th February 2008 and it was divided into two organizational parts – separate events. The first part was resident, executed on 26th February at RACVIAC facilities in Rakitje. The second part of the Workshop was the study field trip to Regional Transition Support Centre in Osijek on 26th and 27th February, fully organized and executed by the Ministry of Defence (MoD) of the Republic of Croatia. Workshop included total of 37 participants from 10 different countries (Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Croatia, France, The former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia*, Moldavia, Montenegro, Norway, United States of America, and Serbia) and various governmental and non-governmental organizations.

The activity content was developed in cooperation with the Croatian SPECTRA Programme staff, primarily having in mind the described specific objective for this event – the provision of real life military personnel transition program examples in the form of success stories, including specific SPECTRA program features. Continued on page 4
One of the specific principles introduced to the existing modalities for the RACVIAC defence conversion activities in the field of military personnel transition, was the in-country approach. Its ultimate agenda is to support the regional ownership build up, and as a contribution to this important vision, Working Group 1 (WG1) already managed to have two of its events executed outside of its Headquarters (HQ) in Croatia. First of them was in Duress, Albania in June 2007, and the second one occurred in November 2007 in Belgrade, Serbia. WG1 truly believes that the applied in-country approach equally enhances the regional diplomatic dimension of RACVIAC, and enables direct exchange of experience, which has been delivered on site and primarily by the host country. At this moment we can talk about the certain tradition being established due to the fact that this approach is becoming widely accepted among WG1 members. The latest example is Croatia, which expressed the readiness to more actively participate in WG1 activities in 2008, and accepted the host role for the first WG1 Workshop in 2008. In the case of the 7th WG1 Workshop, the specific objective was the requested display of the real life examples of the successful individual transition stories. By its definition, the success in the individual transition is the fully established second career. This primarily means successful participation in the labour market or in other words, personal employment or self-employment in the desired field of work. In addition, workshop had the task to emphasize the importance of regional approach due to specific regional aspects of economy, culture, history, availability of resources, mentality and transition support availability itself. These were the starting points for the creation of the corresponding workshop agenda, which has been done in cooperation with the Croatian MoD, which provided special programme in accordance with the requested criteria. This Workshop was planned, organized and executed as the joint event between RACVIAC and the Ministry of Defence of the Republic of Croatia. The resident part of the event was executed in Rakitje while study field trip was held in Osijek County region. Respectively, Croatian MoD and RACVIAC shared corresponding organizational responsibilities. The 7th WG1 Workshop confirmed that this new in-country approach has been recognized and accepted by all members without exceptions. Considering this fact, all WG1 events for the 2008 are designed to support this approach. The WG1 chairman and Bulgarian representative Mr. Peter PASHOV, PhD, announced that the 8th meeting would be hosted by Bulgaria. In that way, RACVIAC officially received confirmation that 8th WG1 Workshop will be organized in Sofia. In this way, WG1 efforts for this year will benefit even more from the practical examples, and this time from Bulgaria, which has been known as the country with the longest experience in the field of military personnel transition.

From March on, the Regional Co-operation Council will play a key role in consolidating achievements of the Stability Pact to date and in making further progress in different areas of co-operation. It will also continue to provide a platform for supporting further Euro-Atlantic integration of South Eastern Europe. The Table stressed that the RCC will build upon the legacy of the Stability Pact. The RCC will play a crucial role in consolidating achievements to date and in supporting South East European countries in advancing progress in different areas of co-operation. Participants underlined that the RCC will continue on the path of the Stability Pact and will focus on promoting and supporting regional co-operation in South Eastern Europe, and on sustaining European integration of the region.

During the meeting RACVIAC was mentioned many times and Ambassador HADŽIMUSIĆ and Lieutenant Colonel WECHSELBERGER held many useful meetings with the participants from various countries and organizations. They presented RACVIAC’s plans for the future and tried to attract financial and other relevant support. The eleven Defence Ministers and Assistant Ministers at present almost unanimously stressed the important role of RACVIAC in their individual statements. At the conclusion of the Ministerial Meeting, the high representatives issued the Joint Statement dedicating the whole paragraph 12 to RACVIAC. The message mounted in a mandate for the Director that the Ministers expect “the Centre’s leadership to actively work for the timely formulation of a new, adequate structure and optimised activities and expenditures plan”.

Ambassador Nedžad HADŽIMUSIĆ received an invitation from Bulgaria, SEECP Chairman in Office, to present RACVIAC at the Defence Ministers Meeting in Sofia on the 11th of March. The Director of RACVIAC followed this invitation, accompanied by Colonel Ömer Faruk BAŞTÜRK and Lieutenant Colonel Thomas MERGEL. On this occasion RACVIAC delegation used the opportunity to highlight RACVIAC’s transformation process. In a fifteen minutes presentation Ambassador HADŽIMUSIĆ provided detailed information on all relevant issues, in particular the characteristics of the new orientation of the Centre by drawing an analogy: “RACVIAC is the aircraft carrier in the region, ready for anyone with similar objectives to land and take off reaching out towards all destination in the SEE region.” He also underlined that RACVIAC is at the ready to support the Regional Co-operation Council (RCC), which has just finished taking shape, and drew a spotlight on the fact that RACVIAC, as a regional Centre for Security Cooperation, is actually materializing the principle of regional ownership.

The eleven Defence Ministers and Assistant Ministers at present almost unanimously stressed the important role of RACVIAC in their individual statements. At the conclusion of the Ministerial Meeting, the high representatives issued the Joint Statement dedicating the whole paragraph 12 to RACVIAC. The message mounted in a mandate for the Director that the Ministers expect “the Centre’s leadership to actively work for the timely formulation of a new, adequate structure and optimised activities and expenditures plan”.

Amongst other speakers at the meeting Dr. Erhard BUSEK, Special Coordinator for the Stability Pact for Southeast Europe, and Mr. Jan TRUSZCZYNSKI, Deputy Director-General from DG Enlargement, as well as Mr. George KATSIRDAKIS, Head of Defence Cooperation, Defence Policy and Planning Division, NATO International Staff emphasized RACVIAC’s crucial future role in promoting security cooperation in the region. Dr. BUSEK especially pointed out that “RACVIAC - Centre for Security Cooperation - is the key Stability Pact mechanism in the area of Defence and Security within the region. It should play a key role in defining how the RCC and other international actors, especially NATO, can best assist each other in dealing with their common and respective priorities.”

At a side meeting Ambassador Dr. Theodor H. WINKLER, Director of the Geneva Centre for the Democratic Control of Armed Forces (DCAF) reassured the readiness of DCAF for an even closer cooperation in the years to come and issued an invitation to Ambassador HADŽIMUSIĆ to visit his Centre at the earliest convenience. The Director and his entourage evaluated the trip to Sofia as a great encouragement in the light of the 19th MAG Meeting in Moldova.
